

Senior Construction Manager Daniel Clark Joins SCJ Alliance

February 8, 2022 – SCJ Alliance welcomes Daniel Clark as a Senior Construction Manager to their Construction Management Group. Daniel brings over 26 years of experience working in every aspect of management and construction from Professional Services Manager to Resident Engineer to Inspector.

“Daniel has demonstrated the ability to lead solution-oriented teams. He’s adept at balancing the needs of multiple stakeholders while still meeting schedule and budget demands,” says Eric Johnston, SCJ Vice President. “His experience lets him not only share important insights with engineers to strengthen designs, but also makes him a great mentor to those in the field.”

Daniel has had the opportunity to serve many agencies throughout the region including the City of Sumner, City of Pacific, City of Tukwila, City of Bellevue, City of Puyallup, Thurston County, City of Federal Way, City of Renton, SDOT, City of Seattle, City of Des Moines, Lakehaven Water District, Kitsap County, City of Bremerton, and City of Maple Valley. He has worked on many private, commercial projects as well.

SCJ has over 130 employees and specializes in civil engineering, transportation planning and design, construction management, environmental and urban planning, landscape architecture, and public outreach. A 100% employee-owned firm, SCJ has earned many awards for project work and being a great place to work. The firm has 11 offices across Washington, Montana, and Colorado.
